

Save the date!

3 - 5 July 2028
Sabah

10th Asia Pacific Conference on Public Health (APCPH 2028)

Organised by
College of Public Health Medicine
Academy of Medicine of Malaysia

Why Sabah?

Sabah offers a unique convergence of biodiversity, cultural diversity, environmental richness, and evolving public health priorities, making it an ideal setting for regional dialogue, collaboration, and innovation in public health.

What to expect

- International plenary sessions
- Scientific symposia
- Oral & poster presentations
- Public health innovation showcase
- Regional networking
- Emerging health issues discussions
- Community & policy engagement
- Cultural and social experience in Sabah

1

Who should attend

Public health professionals; Researchers & academicians; Policymakers; Healthcare practitioners; NGOs & civil society; Industry partners; Students & trainees

2

Stay Connected

Further details on abstract submission, registration, and programme updates will be announced soon.

3

See you in Sabah as we continue shaping the future of public health together.

4